Dear Hal:

I'm enclosing xerox copies mostly concerning recent developments in the M.L. King case which I think you should have for your records.

Also note the enclosure of the upcoming event in Dallas for April, 2000. This is the event I tried to become a panel member on but it definitely appears that the agenda has already been set & I have no chance of being on that panel.

As I wrote you previously I had stated even if I weren't a panelist I still wanted to go but on further reconsideration I've decided not to go after all. The main reason is the cost, As you can see from the enclosure a single person cost is almost $1,600.00 and if I added on over $300.00 plus for air fare it'd set me back $2,000.00 which is ridiculous for me to pay (I still haven't paid off my air fare to the recent Lancer conference which I'm being billed for in monthly payments).

And with the cost so prohibitive who will be going, anyway. The people I know can't afford it so who will the chosen "experts" be talking to? Mostly uninformed & misinformed tourists, I guess. Maybe a few teachers & some students. Anyway I've decided not to go and just watch on TV what the History Channel will show.

Best,
Hal Verb
